| | CF | ENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY | REPORT | |
|--------------|--|--|---|--|
| | | ORMATION REPOR | | |
| | | | OB NO. | |
| DUNTRY | East Germany | | DATE DISTR. 9 Ma | ıy 1955 |
| JBJECT | | Political Situation | NO. OF PAGES 2 | 25 X 1 |
| ACE | | | NO. OF ENCLS. | |
| QUIRED | | | (LISTED BELOW) | |
| TE OF FO. | | | SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO. | 25X1 |
| | | | | |
| | | | | 25X ² |
| 2. | hehaving as if the different. The pa | hey felt stronger than eve arty was suffering from ma | ny shortcomings, confusi- | 25X1 |
| 2. | hehaving as if the different. The parameter and inner strife situation would provide the situation would be as the situation which is the situation which is the situation which is the situation which is the situation with the situation which is the situation which is the situation with the situation with the situation which is the situation which is the situation with the situation with the situation with the situation which is the situation with | arty was suffering from ma . It must not be expected, pr oduce a real crisis or a | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi | 25X1 on, onaries. |
| 2. | hehaving as if the different. The period inner strife situation would properly the present momentals such as the striple striple striple such as the striple s | arty was suffering from ma . It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi- was very unfavorable for from above. Although it | 25X1 on, onaries. |
| 2. | hehaving as if the different. The period and inner strife situation would properly the present momentals such as the true that the | arty was suffering from mag. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accou | 25X1 on. onaries. 25X1 nt. |
| 2. | behaving as if the different. The parameters and inner strife situation would a present momentarials such as the first true that the who have a political such as the component of the party. Recent compromised the first not know what | arty was suffering from mag. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accoustating in the GDR were to the CDU, which had was the executive board of sident in Meissen which here decent men, but they would have taken into | 25X1 en, onaries. , 25X1 nt. 25 |
| | behaving as if the different. The parameters and inner strife situation would a present momentarials such as the first true that the who have a political such as the component of the party. Recent compromised the first not know what | arty was suffering from ma. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, the other parties op the SED. This applied also tionaries who disagreed witly, there had been an inc CDU. The people involved we to they were doing. They sh | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accoustating in the GDR were to the CDU, which had was the executive board of sident in Meissen which here decent men, but they would have taken into | 25X1 on. onaries. , 25X1 nt. 25 |
| | behaving as if the different. The parameters and inner strife situation would a present momentarials such as the first true that the who have a political such as the component of the party. Recent compromised the first not know what | arty was suffering from ma. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, the other parties op the SED. This applied also tionaries who disagreed witly, there had been an inc CDU. The people involved we to they were doing. They sh | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accoustating in the GDR were to the CDU, which had was the executive board of sident in Meissen which here decent men, but they would have taken into | 25X1 en, onaries. , 25X1 nt. 25 |
| | behaving as if the different. The parameters and inner strife situation would a present momentarials such as the first true that the who have a political such as the component of the party. Recent compromised the first not know what | arty was suffering from ma. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slamsky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, the other parties op the SED. This applied also tionaries who disagreed witly, there had been an inc CDU. The people involved withey were doing. They shat the SED, their big brot | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accoustating in the GDR were to the CDU, which had was the executive board of sident in Meissen which here decent men, but they would have taken into | 25X1 on. onaries. 25X1 nt. 25 th ILLEGII |
| STATE | behaving as if the different. The parand inner strife situation would go the present momentarials such as the first true that the who have a politic even worse than murbers and function party. Recent compromised the faid not know what consideration. the | arty was suffering from ma. It must not be expected, produce a real crisis or a nt he Slansky trial or purges SED holds all power, the ical concept of their own, the other parties op the SED. This applied also tionaries who disagreed witly, there had been an inc CDU. The people involved withey were doing. They shat the SED, their big brot | r. But the reality was my shortcomings, confusi however, that this purge of leading functi was very unfavorable for from above. Although it influence of the Soviets must be taken into accoustating in the GDR were to the CDU, which had was the executive board of sident in Meissen which here decent men, but they would have taken into | 25X1 on. onaries. 25X1 nt. 25 th ILLEGII |

30.1-1991

ILLEGIB

| Disckmann and Loch and "fat Kastner", who stayed in the background. These men longed for the reunification of Germany bocause it was a matter of life and death to them. The HUPD would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewd of opportunists. Political organizations such as the FROB, FDL, etc. were entirely dominated by the SED. 5. the situation was not desperate in spite of all appearances to the contrary. The series of Germany would be realised econer than most people thought, in spite of Adenauer and Ubricht. The Seriets would be very glad if this reunification was brought shout soon, because they do not want to risk war. They are convinced that they would wis the war but they fear that it would only dewegate thrope. Horsever, they are firmly convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-power magnifications prior to and after the ratification of the Faris Agreements and sould be inclined to make concessions. This may even be true after the implementation of these agreements. The Soviets did not hold the French in high esteem at present. The SPD had held in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. 5. Concerning the situation in the GDR, conditions had to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Bastern Zone of Germany. Every SED mesher was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiass while playing the role of an anti-festern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. The ther these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. standard of the GDR population as amnounced by Radio R | | SECRET | |
|--|----|--|-------------|
| 4. The LEP was even worse off than the CDU. All hope was placed on Eleckmann and Loch and "fat kastner", who stayed in the background. These men longed for the reunification of Germany because it was a matter of life and death to them. The HEPP would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewd of opportunists. Political organisations such as the FSSD, Flights. were entirely dominated by the SED. 5. the struction was not desperate, in spite of all appearances to the contrary. The services would we remaification of Germany would be realised, sooner than most people thought, in spite of all appearances to the contrary. The services would we are firmly convinced that they would win the war but they fear that it would only desagate barops. Borever, they are firmly convinced that the complete the residence that they would win the war but they fear that it would only desagate barops. Borever, they are firmly convinced that the complete the residence of the resi | | | |
| i. The LDP was even worse off than the CDU. All hope was placed on Disckmann and Lock and "fat kastner", who stayed in the beckground. These men longed for the reunification of Germany because it was a matter of life and death to them. The EDPD would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewd of opportunists. Political organisations such as the FBD, FLI, etc. were entirely dominated by the SED. The situation was not desperate in spite of all appearances to the contrary. Of Germany would be realised sooner than neet people thought, is spite of Adenauer and Ulbricht. The Seriets would be very gled if this reunification was brought shout soon, because thay do not want to risk war. They are convinced that they would win the war but they fear that it would only desegate thereps. Horeever, they are firmly convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-peops my estimations prior to and after the ratification of the Paris Agreements and sould be inclined to make concessions. This may even be true after the implementation of these agreements. These would be four-peops magnitations before the implementation of the Paris Agreements. The Seriets did not hold the Premah in high esteem at present. The SPD had held to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his politices apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no Est German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an enti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be desired that much was being done for its welfare. Is a superior to the service of the fact that the country was gradu | | ÷ 2 • | |
| These men longed for the remunification of Germany bocause it was a matter of life and death to them. The HUPD would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewl of opportunists. Political organizations such as the FBSB, FNL etc. were entirely dominated by the SED. 5. the situation was not desperate, in spite of all appearances to the contrary. the remunification of Germany would be realised soomer than meet people thought, in spite of Adenauer and Ultricht. The Seviets would be very glad if this reunification was brought about soon, because they do not want be risk war. They are convinced that they would win the war but they fear that it would only desemble Europe. Horecover, they are firstly convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-power megatiations price to and after the ratification of the Paris Agreements. there would be four-power megatiations before the implementation of these agreements. The Soviets did not hold the Premah in high estem at present. their ground rather well recently. in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organised Labor. Concerning the situation in the GDE, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his politics apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly sware of the fact that no East Cerman Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the regime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDE population as announced by Redio RIAS was not to those in the USER and her astellites | | | 25X1 |
| These men longed for the remnification of Germany bocause it was a matter of life and death to them. The HUPD would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewl of opportunists. Political organizations such as the FBSB, FAL etc. were entirely dominated by the SED. 5. the situation was not desperate, in spite of all appearances to the contrary. the remnification of Germany would be realised soomer than meet people thought, in spite of Adenauer and Ulbricht. The Seriets would be very glad if this reunification was brought about soon, because they do not want be risk war. They are convinced that they would win the war but they fear that it would only desmets Europe. Horeover, they are firstly convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soriets would be ready for four-power megatiations price to and after the ratification of the Paris Agreements. there would be four-power magetiations before the implementation of these agreements. The Soviets did not hold the Premch in high estem at present. their ground rather well recently. in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. Concerning the situation in the GDE, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Emstern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly sware of the fact that no Est German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDE population as amounced by Rodio RIAS was not to those in the USSR and her satellites. The | | | |
| of all appearances to the contrary. of Germany would be realized sconer than meet people thought, is spite of Adenauer and Ulbricht. The Seriets would-be very glad if this reunification was brought about soon, because they do not went to risk war. They are convinced that they would win the mar but they fear that it would only designate Europe. Horsever, they are firely convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-peoper regulations prior to and after the ratification of the Paris Agreements mad would be inclined to make concessions. This may seen he true after the implementation of these agreements. The second the four-power magnitations before the implementation of these agreements. The Soviets did not hold the Franch in high esteem at present. The SFD had held in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. Concerning the situation in the CDR, in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. Concerning the situation in the CDR, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenaser, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Emstern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiass while playing the role of an anti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the ODR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fa | 4. | Disckmann and Loch and "fat Kastner", who stayed in the background. These men longed for the reunification of Germany because it was a matter of life and death to them. The MDPD would run into trouble later. This party represented nothing but a crewd of opportunists. Political organisations such as the FSSB, FDI, etc. | |
| of all appearances to the contrary. of Germany would be realised scorer than meet people thought, is spite of Adonauer and Ulbricht. The Seriets would-be very glad if this reunification was brought about soon, because they do not went to risk war. They are convinced that they would win the mar but they fear that it would only dewagate burge. Norcewer, they are firely convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-peoper regulations prior to and after the ratification of the Paris Agreements mad would be inclined to make concessions. This may even be true after the implementation of these agreements. The series agreements. The SPD had held their ground rather well recently. In the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. Concerning the situation in the CDR, conditions had to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be resognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenaser, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German army would be filled with enthusiass while playing the role of an anti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of socialism. Of course, the future belonge to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshe | 5. | the mituation was not desperate in spite | 2574 |
| there would be four-power angotistions before the implementation of the Paris igroements. The Soviets did not hold the French in high esteem at present. The SFD had held their ground rather well recently. in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. Concerning the situation in the CDR, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Testern force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Thether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being was over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of accialism. Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | | of all appearances to the contrary. of Germany would be realised sooner than most people thought, in spite of Adenauer and Ulbricht. The Seviets would be very gled if this reunification was brought about soon, because they do not want to risk war. They are convinced that they would win the war but they fear that it would only devegtate Europe. Horsever, they are firstly convinced that the capitalist system will disintegrate by itself. The Soviets would be ready for four-people negotiations prior to and after the ratification of the Paris Lydenauts and would be inclined to make concessions. This may even be true after the implementation | 23/1 |
| their ground rather well recently. in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized Labor. 5. Concerning the situation in the GDR, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Western force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of accialism. Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | | there would be four-power negotiations before the implementation | ion 25X1 |
| in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organised Labor. 6. Concerning the situation in the GDR, conditions had to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be resognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Western force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the regime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of socialism. Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | | | 25X1 |
| political course consistently opposed by organised Labor. 5. Concerning the situation in the GDR, conditions had to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be resognized that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Western force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of socialism. Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | | | |
| Concerning the situation in the GDR, to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Western force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the regime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. a sharp decline in the living standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of socialism. Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | | in the long run it was impossible to steer a political course consistently opposed by organized labor. | 25X1 |
| Of course, the future belongs to socialism, but it was not yet decided which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | 5. | to a certain extent improved but most people were still rather indifferent. On the other hand, it must be recognised that fewer people continued to place their hope in Adenauer, because his policies apparently involved the writing off of the Eastern Zone of Germany. Every SED member was perfectly aware of the fact that no East German Army would be filled with enthusiasm while playing the role of an anti-Western force. The SED placed its hope on the Soviets. Whether these conditions would continue for long was, however, doubtful. The youth of the country was gradually being won over by the régime, and it could not be denied that much was being done for its welfare. Standard of the GDR population as announced by Radio RIAS was not to be expected, although living conditions in the GDR were superior to those in the USSR and her satellites. The German population was profiting from the fact that the GDR was the western show window of | 25X1 25X |
| | | which form it would take in Europe and Germany. One thing was certain, however, that Bolshevism would emerge as the only political force after | 25X1 |
| - 25X1 | | - | 25X1 |

SECRET